DEAN W. GORTHWICK
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT

Greetings!

From the mountains and plains of Wonderful Wyoming come an ever increasing natural wealth of agriculture and minerals. Our famous vacationlands and scenic beauty attract more and more tourists to our State. The warm and spontaneous hospitality of Wyoming people extends a welcome to those beyond our borders. The spirit of independence, the vision and foresight of our citizens will take us to greater heights of development and accomplishment.

Because there is unity between the product of our University and the natural resources of Wyoming, it is appropriate that the 1959 WYO, the chronicle of the year's activities at the University, should portray the beauty of Wyoming as a background for the activities of our University.

Over 3500 students stood in countless lines during registration Sept. 15-17. The enrollment altered the boy-girl ratio from the previous ratio of three boys to one girl to five boys to two girls—an optimistic increase. On the dim side the enrollment created housing problems. Hardest hit were the girl's dorms who slept 50 more girls than their combined capacity.

This true story displayed the hardships faced by many during the reign of the nazis. Here was a Jewish family of eight virtually imprisoned in a few small rooms above a warehouse while in hiding. Through the two years of such tension, all saw Anne Frank, a happy-go-lucky 13-year-old girl, change greatly as she grew up through the demands of this strange environment.

As one of the most active organizations on campus, the U. W. Outing Club provided limitless opportunities in such exuberant activities as hiking, climbing, camping, making pack trips, horseback riding, and many winter sports during the past year. These people learned how to rough it, and loved it.

One of their larger trips of the '58-'59 year was an excursion south to climb Ship Rock in New Mexico during Thanksgiving vacation. Through camping out and sharing expenses, they were able to furnish an experience-packed weekend for those students who wished to travel during the vacation.

The climb to Ship Rock was unfortunately cut short for the students, however, when they were forced back by a storm, but the all-night descent in the storm offered the thrills these climbers seemed to enjoy. Photos by Leonard Nadel.

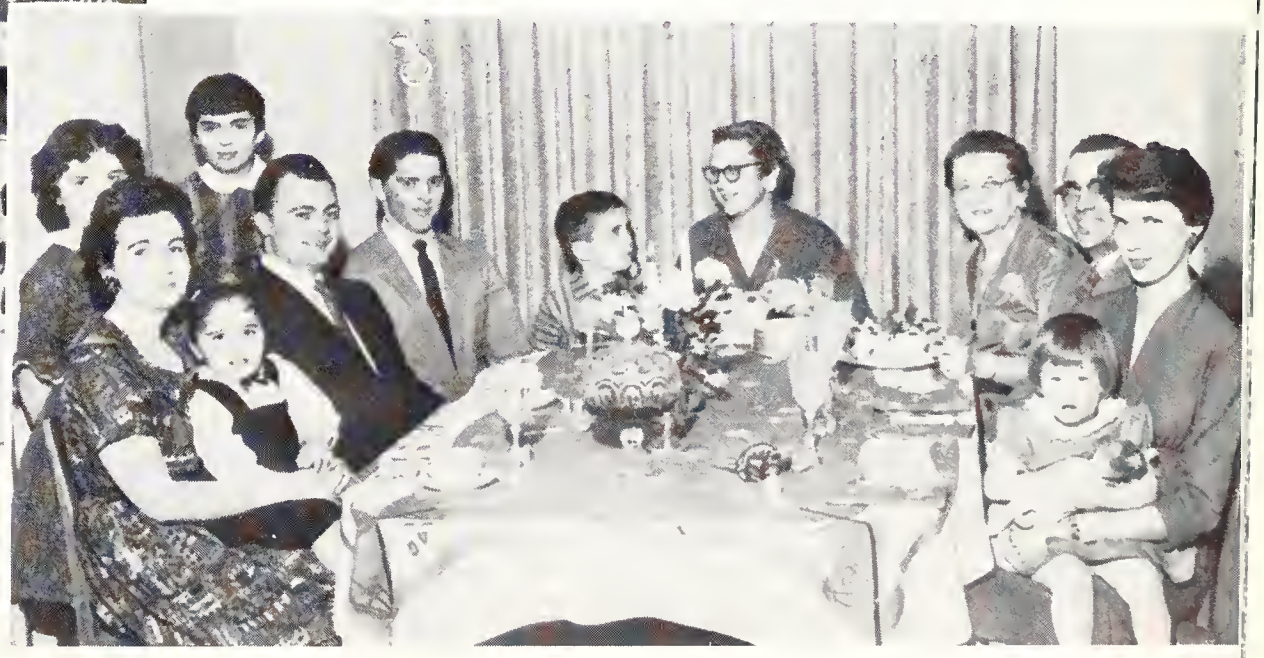

Rescue operations are carried on frequently by the U. W. Outing Club to keep themselves in "shape" for their own protection and for the safety of others who may call upon them when the occasion arises.

A state-wide fund raising campaign to build a $65,000 interdenominational chapel on campus was launched by the Inter-Fraternity Chaplains Council.

The Board of Trustees promised a 99-year lease on a plot of land between the Union and the Half Acre Gym.

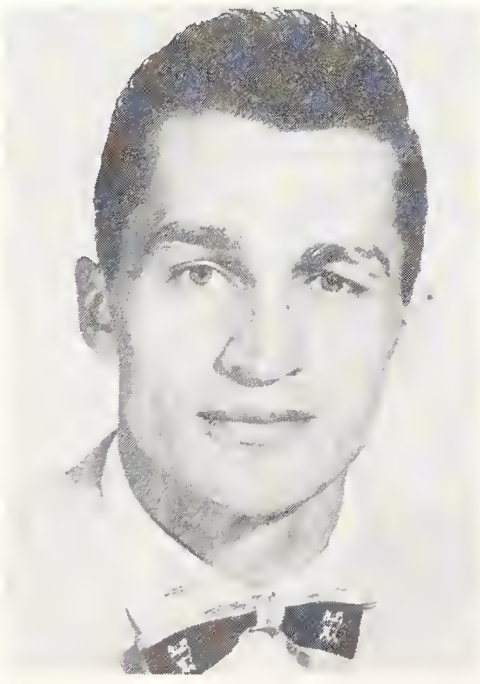

Donations for the building were sought from alumni, business firms and service clubs around the state.

Blueprints for the structure, submitted by O. G. Woody, called for a building of native slab stone and copper roofing. The chapel will seat 70 people.

of Sun Bowl, 1958

Two first half breaks and a stingy defense marked a victory for the Cowboys in the 25th annual Sun Bowl game at El Paso, Texas, over the Hardin-Simmons University. The final score was Wyoming 14, H-SU 6.

The game was expected to be a much higher scoring contest although both teams had touted defenses. The Wyoming line, which was outweighed by nearly 20 pounds to the man, outplayed the hefty Hardin-Simmons line all afternoon.

The win marked Wyoming's third in bowl competition. In 1950 the Cowboys rolled over Washington and Lee in the Gator Bowl and in 1956 they beat Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl.

Tryouts for Wyo Days (a picture of which is shown above) having been completed, the variety show began rehearsal for its tour to high schools in the state from March 9 to 13.

It was around the end of January that rumors began to flow concerning Tony Windis—one of the bigger names in basketball to Cowboy fans. Was he planning to leave Wyoming for a better offer? What then, they said. Windis did miss several games after this, however, because of an injured leg. There was no doubt that his unfortunate lay-up hurt his record as top scorer in the Skyline Conference for the second consecutive year. To the right he is shown in one of the several games during January, Brigham Young University.

An ever favorite with U. W. audiences is the Denver Symphony Orchestra, so the University Concert Series returned them to campus once again on January 9. A special added feature of this concert included UW's own pianist, Robert Strangland, playing Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 5. Mr. Strangland is a member of the University music faculty.

Compositions by Tallis, Beethoven, and Brahms highlighted the evening.

On January 15, Llord's Puppets International added new sophistication and glamour to the marionette theatre for many students.

It was a gay fanciful revue full of ingenious sounds and scenic effects—part concert, part ballet, part broadway musical and part circus. The special effects of rain, snow, fire, electrical skyrockets, water playing fountains, and menagerie of elephants, camels, peacocks, and horses, for example, illustrated in part the lavish and expensive note of this revue. The costumes for the more than 200 marionettes were advertised to be some of the finest obtainable.

Probably one of the things that seemed to fascinate the audience most was the fact that Mr. Llord, while manipulating as many as 187 strings at a time, remained in constant view of his audience.

aws regulates coed's life

The AWS board and its branches in the houses and dormitories have the opportunity to regulate matters of conduct, enact necessary rules for University coeds and participate in the government of our school.

The AWS board is composed of representatives from the various houses and dormitories, Spurs Chimes, WAA, Mortar Board, and the Panhellenic Council. In addition, two freshman representatives are elected each fall. Officers were: President, Joan Anderson; President delegates-at-large, Marilyn Barnes, Juletta Northrup; Vice-president, Janice Elmer; IAWS correspondent, Margot Davis; Secretary, Nan Curtis; and Treasurer, Aldeen Peterson.

poke ski team

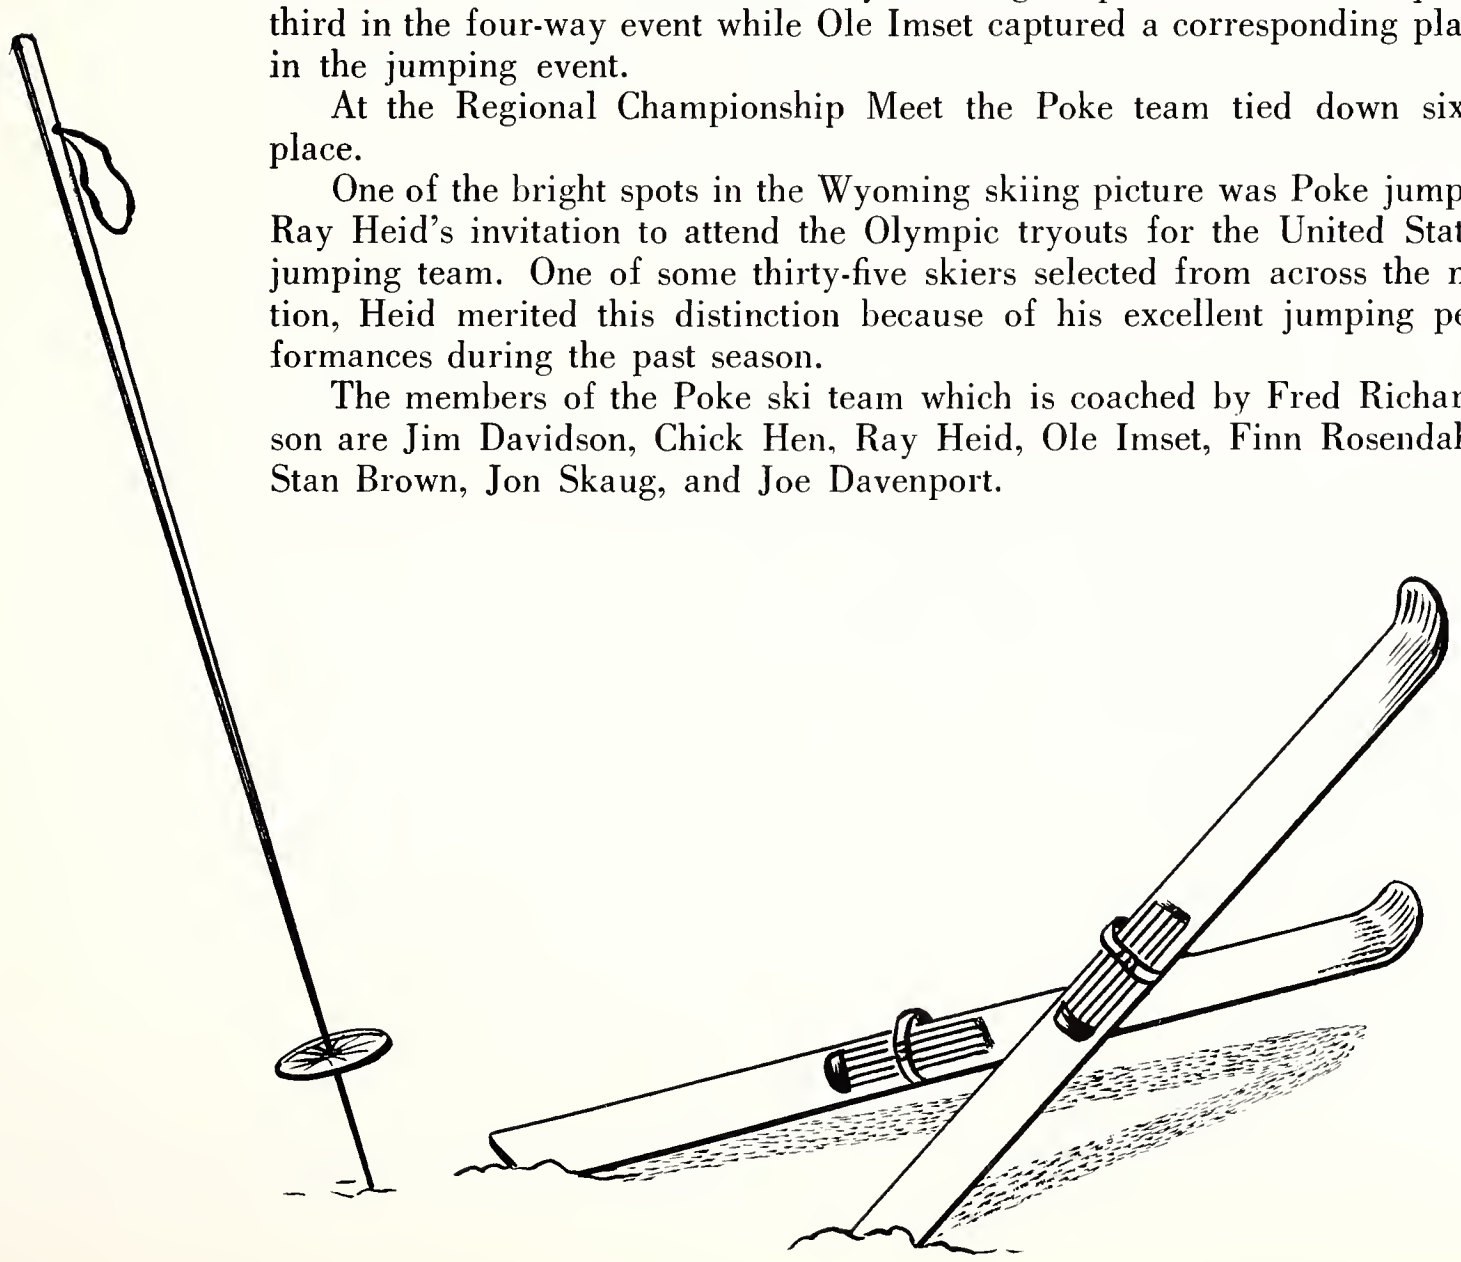

The Wyoming ski team came in last in their season's first meet held at Steamboat Springs. Standouts of the Poke sponsored meet were Ray Heid and Ole Imset who placed sixth and eighth respectively in the jumping event.

After finishing fourth in the following meet, the slat men placed third in the Winter Park Invitational. Ray Heid again performed well to place third in the four-way event while Ole Imset captured a corresponding place in the jumping event.

At the Regional Championship Meet the Poke team tied down sixth place.

One of the bright spots in the Wyoming skiing picture was Poke jumper Ray Heid's invitation to attend the Olympic tryouts for the United States jumping team. One of some thirty-five skiers selected from across the nation, Heid merited this distinction because of his excellent jumping performances during the past season.

The members of the Poke ski team which is coached by Fred Richardson are Jim Davidson, Chick Hen, Ray Heid, Ole Imset, Finn Rosendahl, Stan Brown, Jon Skaug, and Joe Davenport.

The defending Eastern Division tennis champions will begin their twenty three match slate in late March against Arizona State University. Following this the Poke netsmen will meet the New Mexico University Lobos in the initial conference encounter on April 3 and 4.

The Cowboys, who tied for third with Brigham Young in the Skyline tennis finals last season, had their hopes dampened considerably with the loss of Eddie Panui and Bruce Haug. However, veteran three-year letterman Pat Florentine, junior Lee Holmes, and sophomore Bill Legler, aided by transfers Tom Chivington, George Wolf and Bob Bruner should keep the Pokes in the running.

The Cowboy matmen, who have taken either first or second place each year since the mountain states wrestling conference was formed, won their fourth straight Skyline Conference title.

Herb Karcher (123 pounds), Dale Madden (130 pounds), Carl Scott (137 pounds), and Dick Ballinger (167 pounds) all took first place in their respective weight classes, as Wyoming amassed 72 points against runnerups Utah and Colorado State University who tied for second with 49 points each. Jerry Frude (147 pounds) and Lyle Brownlee (177 pounds) managed second place while Bud Snyder decisioned his opponent to win third place in the 157 pound class.

swimming

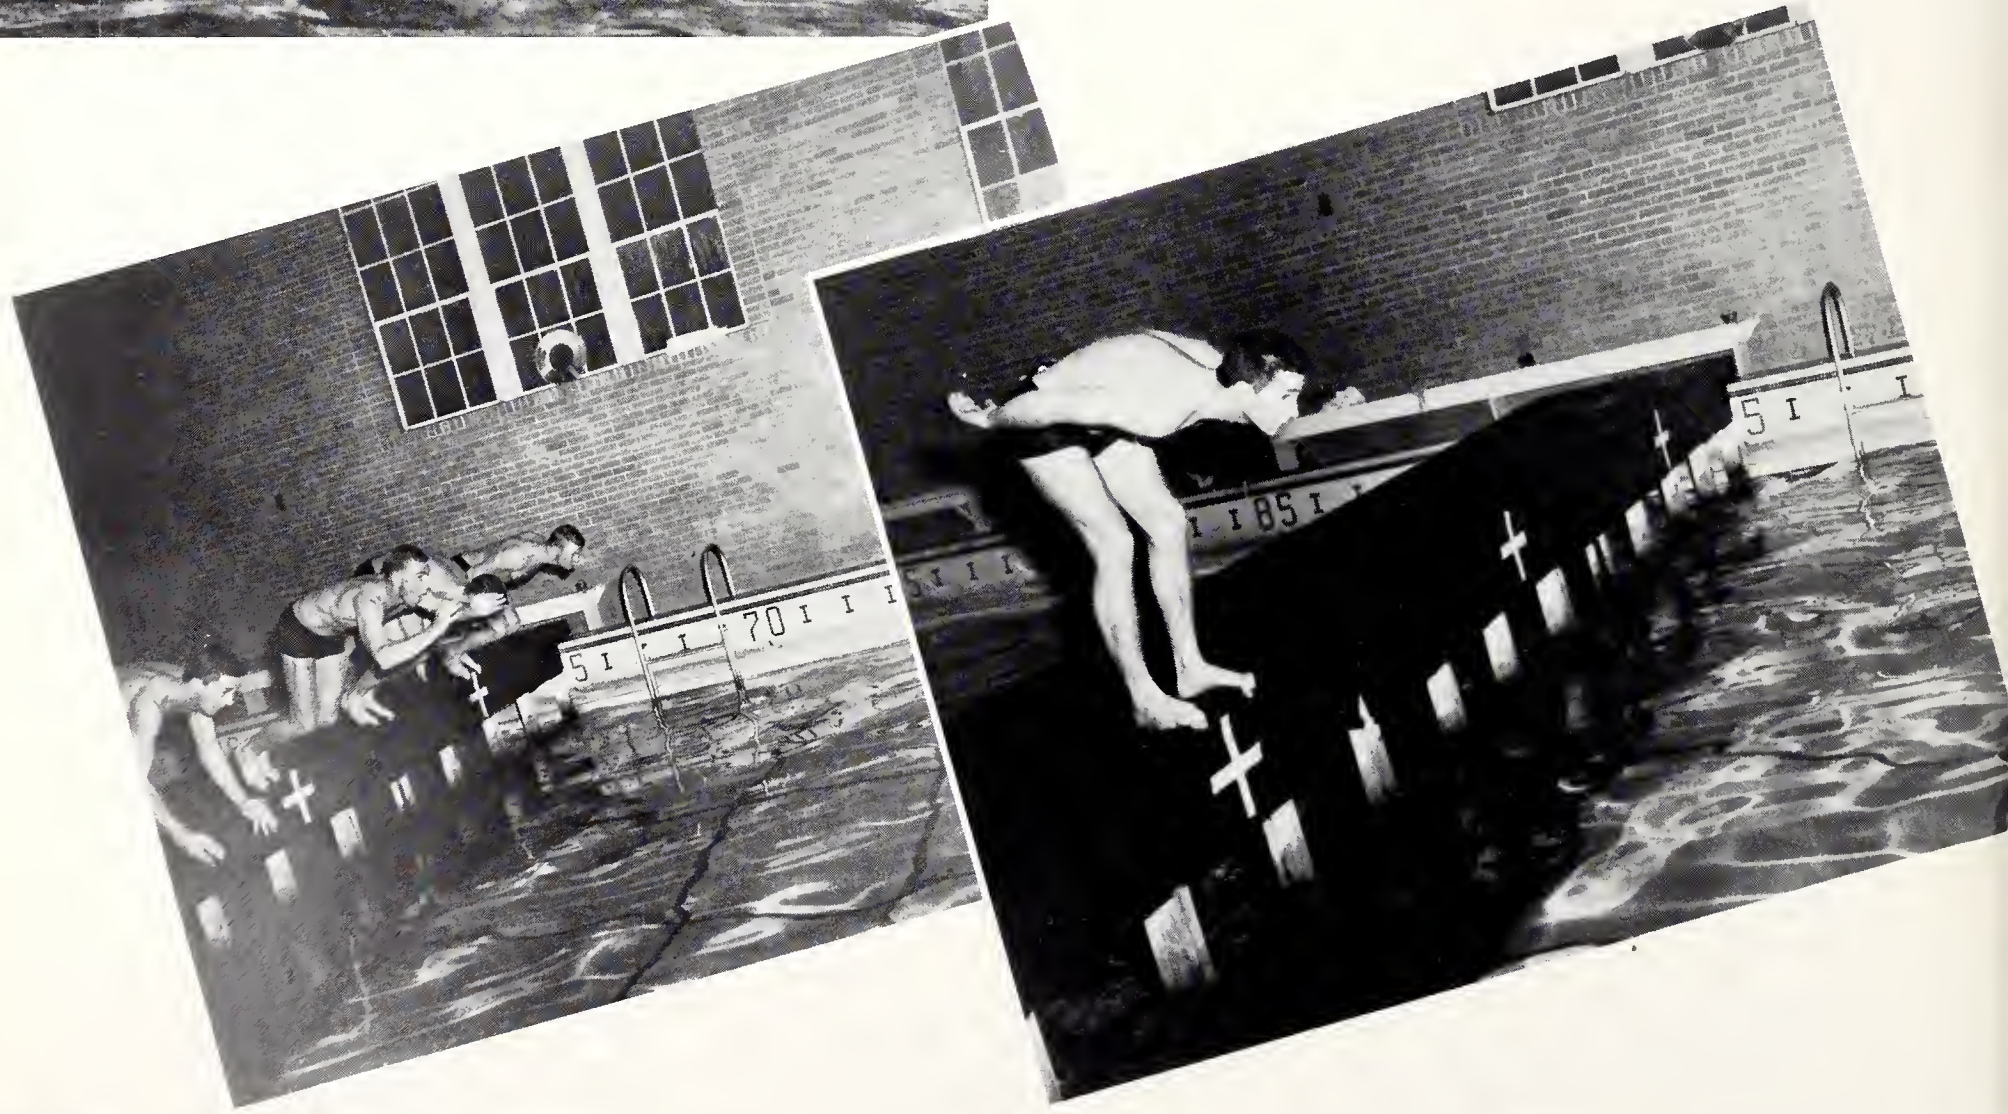

The Poke swimming team captured its first Skyline swimming championship by splashing up a total of 105½ points to defeat runnerup Utah and defending champion Denver.

Bob Niethold managed to shave five seconds off his own Skyline mark in the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2:20.9. Ken Koster led the Poke individual scoring by winning first place in the 100 and 200-yard backstroke event in addition to helping Bill Miller, Mickey Donovan and Mike Mead capture first in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Jerry Maxwell, Chuck Brandenburg and Dave Hitchens also helped as they placed in their respective events.

Earlier in the season the team dropped one dual meet and captured the Eastern divisional championship.

poke cindermen

The Poke thinclads finished a discouraging 1958 season by drawing a tie for seventh place in the Conference Championship. Earlier in the season the cindermen came through with third place standings in both the Regional A.A.U. meet at D.U. and the Eastern Division track meet at Fort Collins.

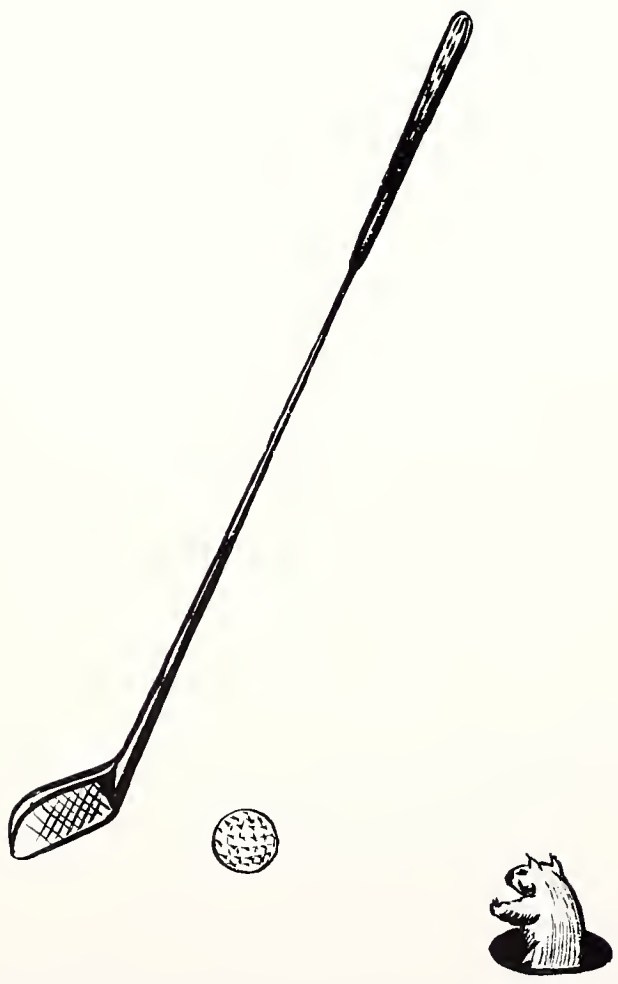

Highlights of the season included Gary Darnall, Tom Davidson, Mike Ryder, and Harold Farmer's time of 3:22.5 on the mile relay. This tied the previous school record set in 1954. Freshman Jerry Lane showed great promise by jumping 6'4" to set a new high jump field record.

The 1959 season will see conference champions Harold Farmer and Jerry Lane again on the Poke team. Gary Darnall and freshman Bud Spicer are expected to turn in good performances.

Lewis McNaughton, Larry Luzac, Coach Jack Alfred, John Bertolero, Gordon Hockamier, James Hipsher, Rufus Hoefer.

Hampered by the lack of a golf course for practice purposes the Cowboy golf team, nevertheless, placed seventh in the 1958 Conference Tournament held at Utah State University.

Highlights of the 1958 season included Lewis McNaughton's hole-in-one at the Lakewood Country Club in Denver, and John Bertolero's hole-in-one at the Logan Country Club. John Bertolero also placed fourth in the Skyline Champ-Conference Golf Tournament.

With the return of veterans Gordon Hockamier, Larry Luzac, Lewis McNaughton, and John Bertolero, Coach Alfred hopes to better the Poke's record in 1959. Two freshmen, James Hipsher and Rufus Hoefer are expected to strengthen the Poke Team in the years to come.

The 1959 baseball season will begin in late March with a trip South to meet Arizona State U., Phoenix College, and New Mexico. The first home game will be on April 17 against Colo. State College, followed by encounters with the Air Force Academy, Colo. State U., and Denver U.

Returning veterans include all-Skyling first baseman Bill Cheeny, pitcher Bill Lutz, catchers Al Figone and Paul Peterson, infielders Fred Answine and Joe Netherton, and centerfielder Norm Sagara.

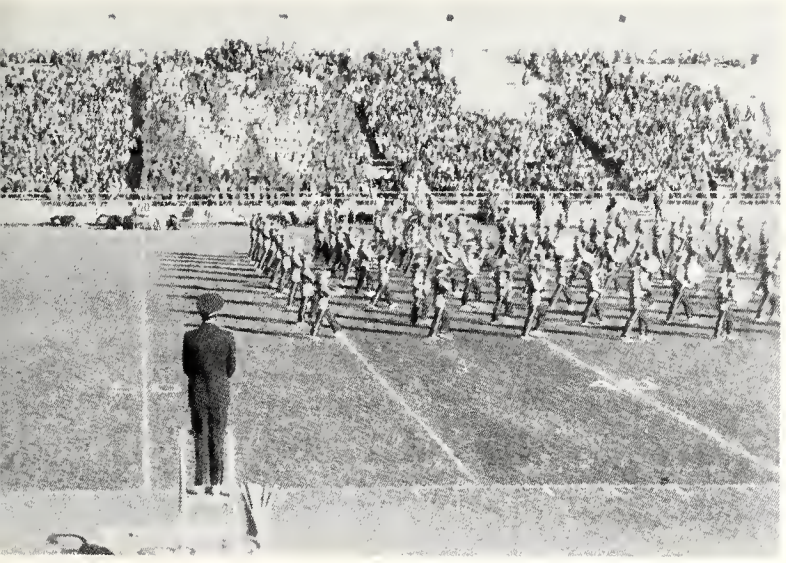

To complete the roster, Coach Bud Daniel will have to depend upon sophomores Pat Thorpe, Lud DiFilippo, Harry Zoelleck, Charles Claire, Ken Hladek, Dennis Boone, and Dave Sims. Juniors Bill Beck, Jerry Wilkinson and Bob Johnson are also counted upon to turn in good performances.

Back Row: Bill Beck, Fred Answine, Jerry Wilkinson, Bill Lutz, Chuck Hejde, Bill Cheney, Al Figone, Joe Netherton.

When the crowd starts to roar about the size of the queen pictures, about a senior's picture in the freshman section, or the lack of proper capitalization, here is where the blame should fall—on the WYO staff.

Our only excuse is that on long week-ends of work while the rest of the student body was on vacation, we bemoaned our fate and in minutes of revenge, deliberately made mistakes and gained some joy out of this life.

alpha epsilon delta members are future doctors and dentists

A 2.50 average, a recommendation from a faculty member, and approval by the active members are needed to join Alpha Epsilon Delta, Pre-Med and Pre-Dental honorary. The primary purpose of the AED's is to encourage scholarship and to stress the importance of the pre-med and pre-dental education in the fields of medicine and dentistry.

Each year the group takes part in a freshman orientation program and selects the outstanding pre-medical or dental student. Films, guest speakers, and an extensive social program which includes the all important spring picnics help round out the year for the AED's.

Art King speaks at Ag Club Banquet

Male students working for a degree in Agriculture are eligible for membership in the Ag Club. Promoting an interest in agriculture and developing competent, aggressive rural leadership are a few of the main points stressed in this club. The Little International Livestock Show in the spring takes up much of the club's time and interest. This club, headed by Kenney Serres, also holds an annual banquet and sponsors the University mascot, "Cowboy Joe."

The knights of the transit tamperers—the civil engineers belong to the American Society of Civil Engineers, an organization open to both men and women. High spots of the social calendar for these engineers are a smoker, a picnic, the open house display, Engineers' Ball decorations, and field trips to Cheyenne, Denver, and other project areas in this region. To give well deserved recognition this organization confers an honor book, the Swenson Structures award, and two memberships to the Wyoming ASCE section.

council sponsored engineers' ball

At the top of the Engineering ladder is the Engineering Council. Its membership is composed of two representatives from each of the Engineering societies; two from Sigma Tau, the Engineering honorary; and the two Engineering senators. The Engineering Council governs and co-ordinates the Engineering societies. One of the most interesting activities is the Engineers' Ball when an Engineers' Queen is chosen. Waldron C. Townsend was president of the Council this year.

Girls in the Home Economics Club have as their goals developing skills, increasing knowledge, widening cultural interest, development of professional attitudes and abilities, offering social experiences and contributing service to the community. Most of these students carry an interest and a love of the equine and bovine from pre-university days. This common love and interest is in the field of rodeoing. Sporting a fine NIRA team, the Rodeo Club puts on one of the finest indoor collegiate rodeos in the country. Featured in their annual show is calf roping, bucking contests, steer decorating, and numerous other events. In connection with their annual blow-out is the Powder River Ball, and a parade with numerous floats entered by various organizations. The group this year was headed by Jim Moore.

Any student enrolled in a teacher training program may become a member of SNEA. Meetings and programs help future teachers to learn about the organizations for teachers and gives them a chance to take part in professional activities. By joining SNEA, a student becomes a member of WEA and NEA. Representatives are sent to the WEA convention, WEA Delegate Assembly, and other professional meetings.

waa sponsored intramural sports

The WAA gives every university coed interested in intramural sports a chance to keep busy in table tennis, volleyball, badminton, bowling, basketball, softball, and swimming tournaments. These events are held throughout the year. Membership is composed of girls who have participated in at least one tournament. Points are earned for active participation, and awards are given: Sweater, 1,250 points; Letter 750 points; and emblem, 350 points. The president this year was Margot Davis.

canterbury holds pancake supper

Promoting religion and providing social outlets for college students is the object of Canterbury Club. It is affiliated with the Episcopal Church and all Episcopalians are automatically members, but the idea that anyone can belong is stressed. Canterbury Club plans a busy year for its members: Sunday services and dinner, Wednesday communion and a pancake supper at the beginning of Lent are only a few of the many activities. Douglas Kedl headed the club this year.

Membership for this group is composed of the Chaplains from each Greek social organization. The ICC is new on campus this year and was organized to elevate the prestige of chaplains in the fraternal atmosphere through organization. This group worked hard to get a chapel on campus. The ICC was headed by Jane Lacy.

The Roger Williams Club is a comfortable and enriching haven for American Baptist students at the University of Wyoming. Sunday school and the evening fellowship supper with devotions and programs make Sunday the most important and busiest day of the week. During the rest of the week the students find the house a friendly place for planning future activities as well as having a "plain old good time." The spiritual aspect of campus life is emphasized in the group in addition to social fellowship. This year the group has scored highly in both girls' and boys' intramurals; but the highlight of the year was the Homecoming float, which placed second in the co-educational division. Dal Saxton is the president of Roger Williams; Larry Armstrong, vice-president; Bob Mengal, treasurer; and Charlotte Miller, secretary.

Wesley Foundation is the Methodist organization on campus, however, membership is open to all students interested in participation in Wesley activities. The group holds a Freshman Orientation Banquet at the first of the year. Also, this year they took a trip in their own bus to the University of Colorado, gave a Christmas play, and a formal the last of April. To share a common faith in Jesus Christ and to share that experience in Christian Fellowship with others is the particular purpose of the Wesley Foundation. President this year was Clark Lacy.

Alpha Chapter

Lambda Delta Sigma is an organization unique on the Wyoming campus. It is actually two organizations in one. The members of this group are also members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. LDS is divided into two sub organizations, Alpha chapter for men students and Omega for women. Center of the group's activities is the LDS Institute at 12th and Grand. Every Thursday night is meeting night, and the LDS group enjoys such things as parties, musicals and speaker programs. Highlight of the social year are three formal dances held each fall, winter, and spring. This year LDS had an active homecoming, winning best all around float and the independent sing.

The Interfraternity council is the governing body of the eleven fraternities on the campus. Membership is composed of three men from each fraternity.

The purpose of the council is to further the interests of the University and all fraternities on the campus, to foster closer cooperation and better understanding between fraternities, and to consider all questions of interfraternity relationship and questions of interest to the college world as they affect fraternities and their members. President this year was Morrison Heth. Their faculty advisor is A. L. Keeney, Dean of Men.

phi kappa

The year 1949 saw the Phi Kappas installed at the University of Wyoming, making it one of the youngest national fraternities on campus. The teachings of the fraternity include the teachings and philosophy of the Roman Catholic Church. During the year a Christmas Dance and a Spring Formal were held. Don O'Connell was president this year. Pictured above is their Homecoming float and below is their snow sculpture.

The SAE's were unique this year in that they are the only frat to have a co-ed for a housemother. "Mom" Turner has registered in counseling. The SAE's are famous for their parties; for example the Undertaker's Ball and the Bushman's Hop are always the talk of the campus. These men started the year out right by taking the first place trophy in the fraternity division of the Homecoming Sing. Each March the SAE's migrate to the Lakeside Country Club for their annual Founders' Day celebration. Ron White headed the group this year. THE UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
OLD MAIN

LARAMIE, WYOMING

TO THE STUDENTS:

The primary function of the University of Wyoming, as it should be of every educational institution, is instruction. The effectiveness of its instructional program determines the academic rating of a college or university. This effectiveness is measured in part by the success of its graduates in the vocations or professions they enter.

Because the University of Wyoming continuously stresses its instructional program, because programs and courses are planned with major emphasis on the student, and because every effort is made to maintain the best possible faculty, the University holds a high academic rating among colleges and universities throughout the nation. It is fully accredited in all fields in which accrediting agencies function. Some of its programs have received recognition nationally and internationally.

Real concern exists on the part of our faculty that every student shall have the best possible preparation for the vocation or profession he expects to enter. To assure this preparation, there must, of course, be corresponding desire and effort on the part of the student.

We earnestly hope that each of you will put forth your best effort during your college years. If you do, your experience here is bound to be a profitable and a happy one.

Sincerely yours,

G. D. Humphrey

college of arts and sciences

The College consists of fifteen departments organized to serve a three-fold purpose: (1) To offer the liberal and general education essential to the development of men and women as well-rounded individuals and as members of their social, cultural, economic, and political communities. (2) To give direction and basic training for the students career choices . . . and also to prepare for specific occupations in many fields. (3) To provide certain required courses and general electives for students in other colleges.

Psychology students learned the basic methods of testing.

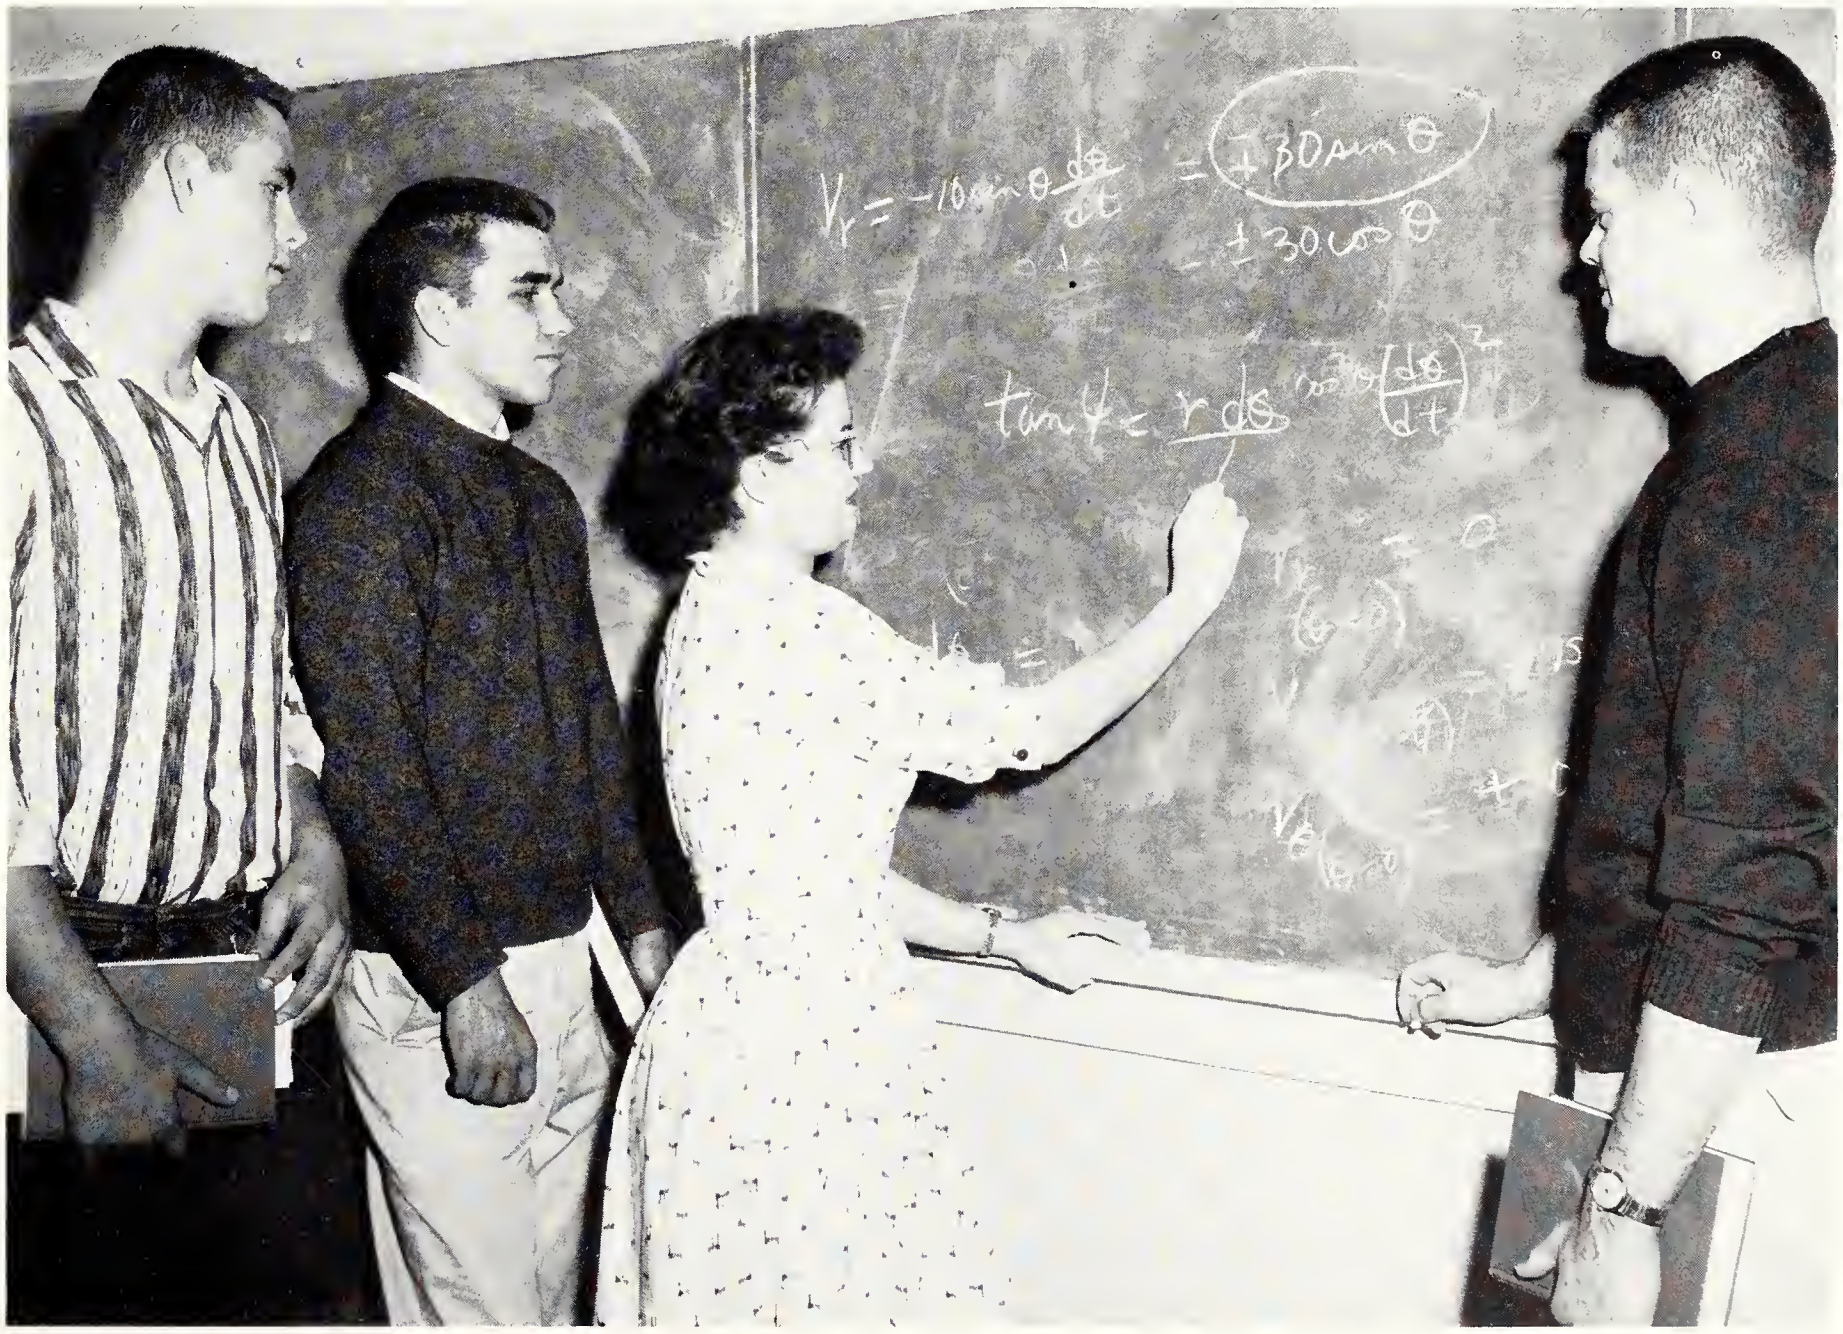

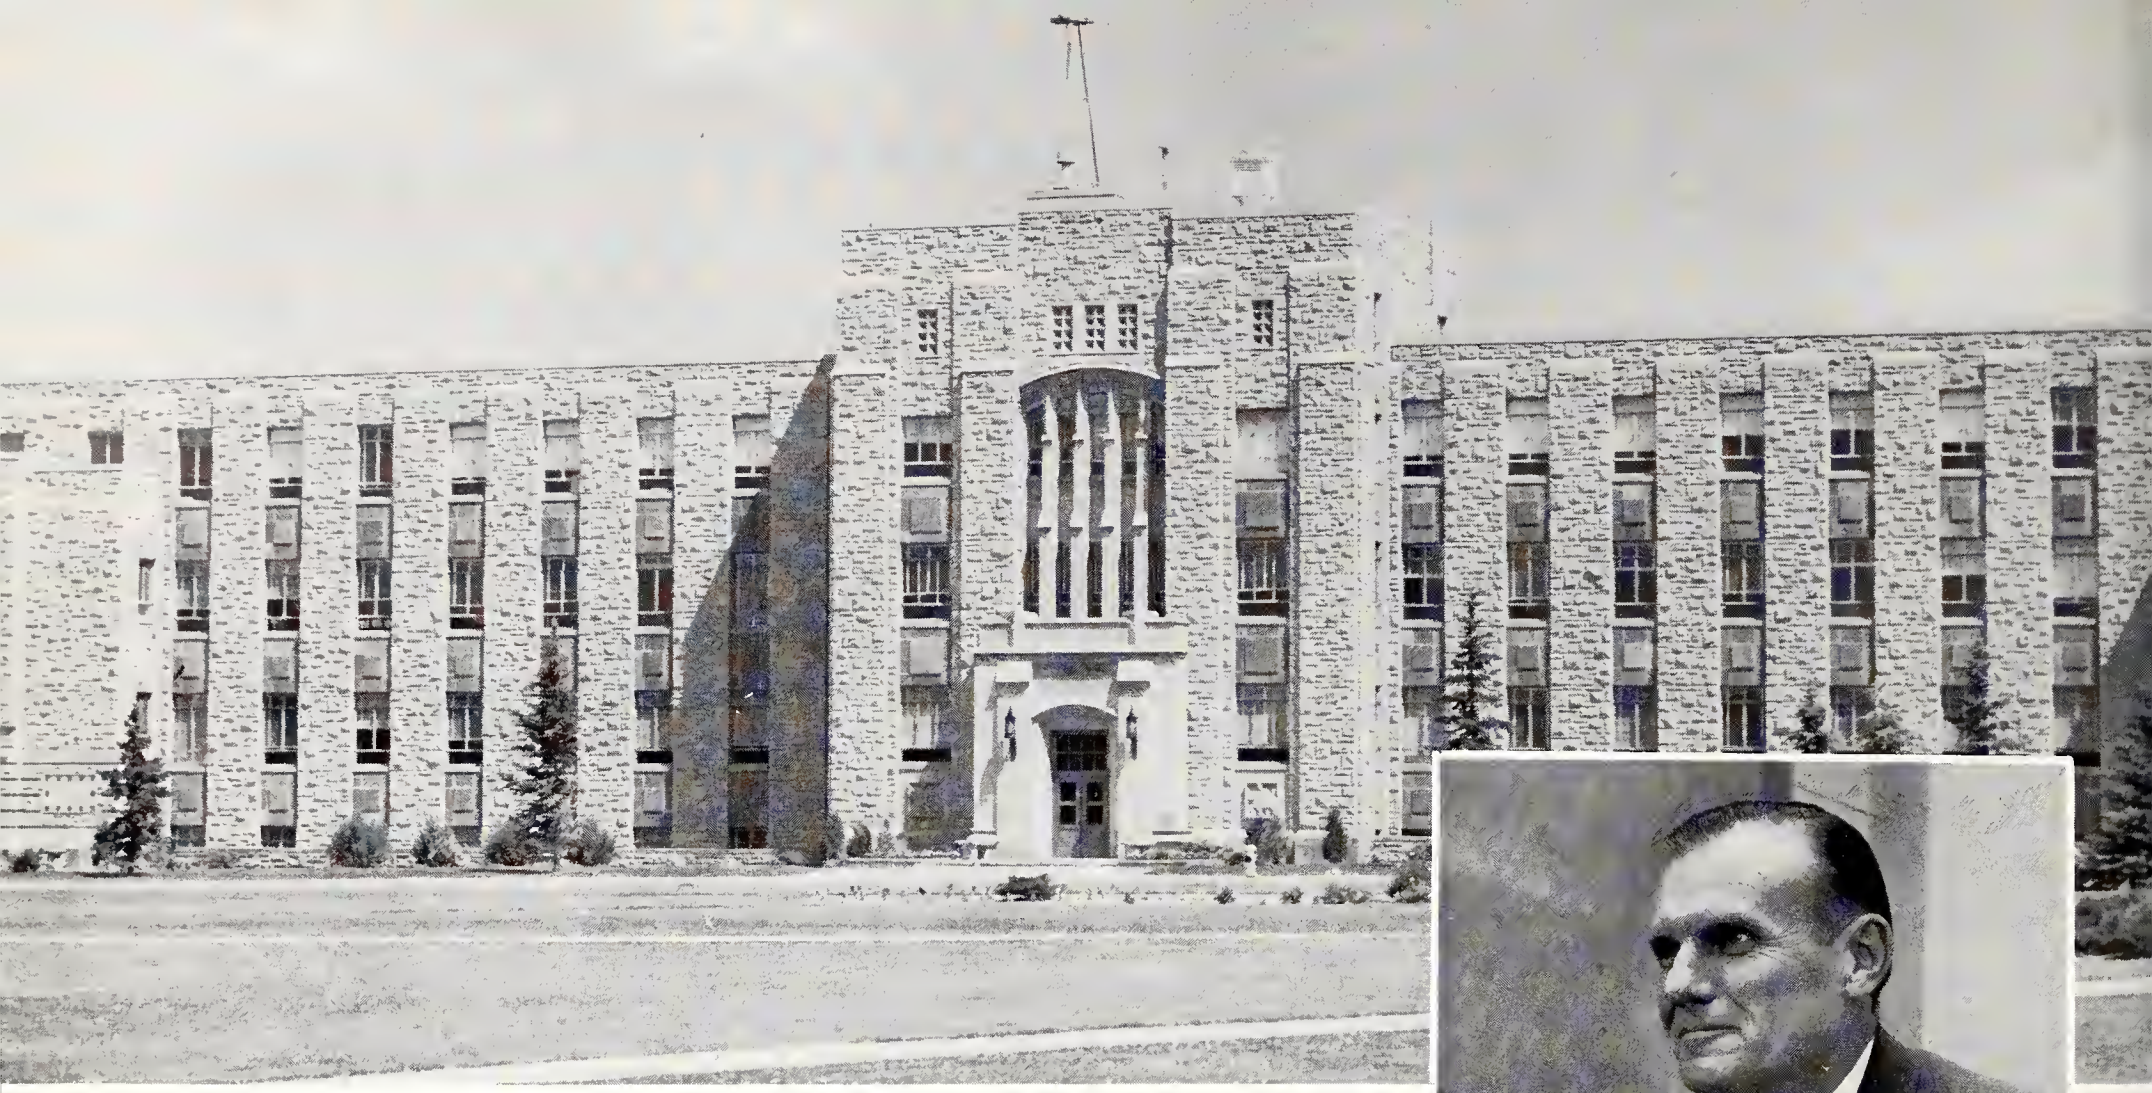

Under a new honor system, promising students have an opportunity to receive particular attention and direction in developing their special abilities to the fullest degree.

A professional curriculum is available in seven fields: chemistry, conservation, geology, journalism, medical technology, physics, recreation, social work.

A pre-professional curriculum in pre-forestry, pre-medical, including dentistry and medicine and in pre-legal.

Mrs. Reed taught the principals of calculus to UW math students.

college of agriculture

The Ag College offers instruction in a wide variety of subjects in agriculture and home economics. Students are trained in principles which apply throughout the world, but there is special emphasis on types of agriculture in the Rocky Mountain area.

At the General Livestock, Dairy and Agronomy farms, students study crop production, livestock management, dairying, and the operation of machinery and motors.

The field of home economics under the direction of Verna Hitchcock, includes those phases of learning that relate to home and family life.

college of commerce–industry

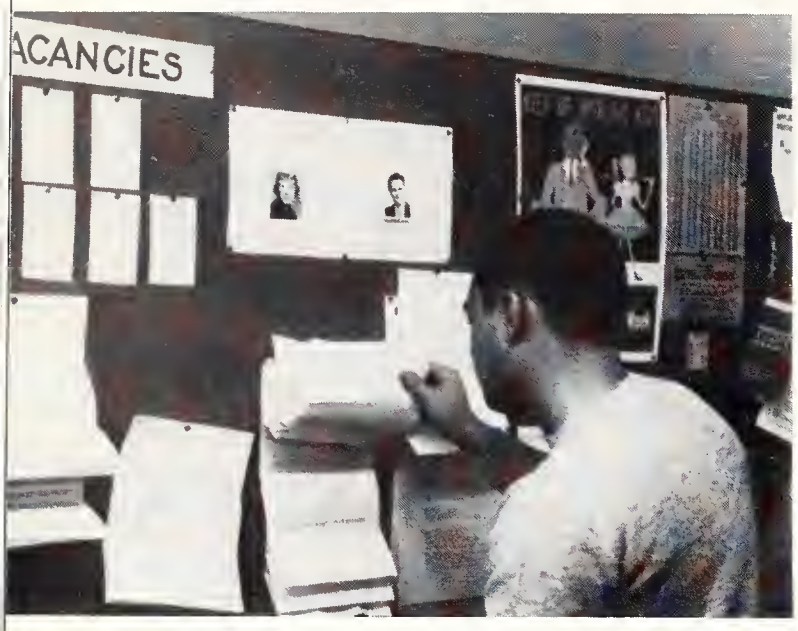

The college of Commerce and Industry, organized in 1947, is composed of four departments: Accounting, Business Administration, Secretarial Science and the Department of Statistics.

In addition, a Division of Business and Economic Research, devoted to economic analysis of business data, constitutes an integral part of the College.

Plans have been made for a new home for the college but at present the college is located in the A&S building.

Left: An active placement service is available to future teachers. Right: Students gain experience in the classroom through student teaching.

college of education

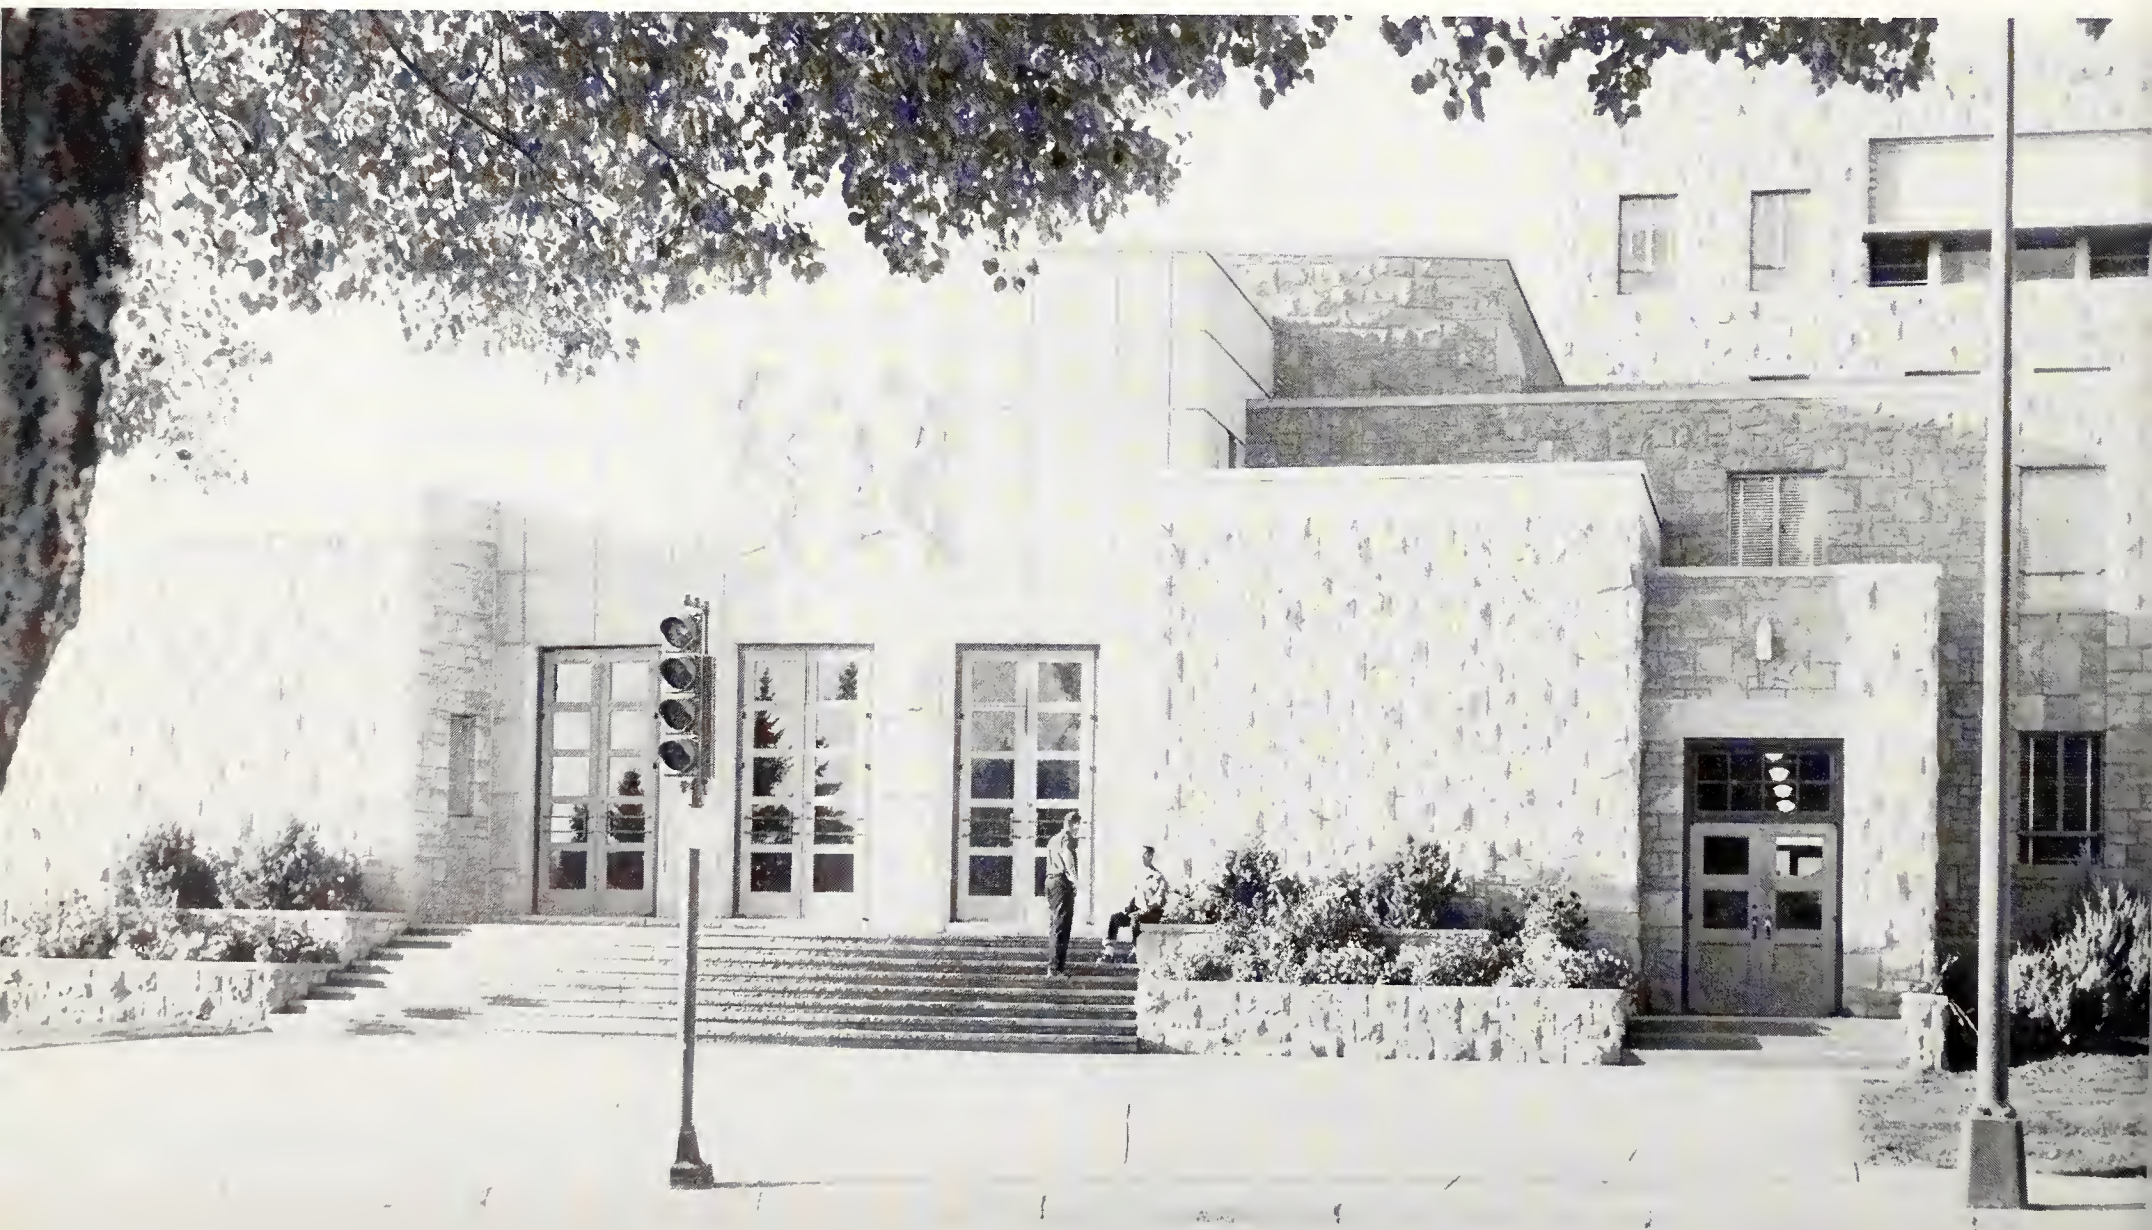

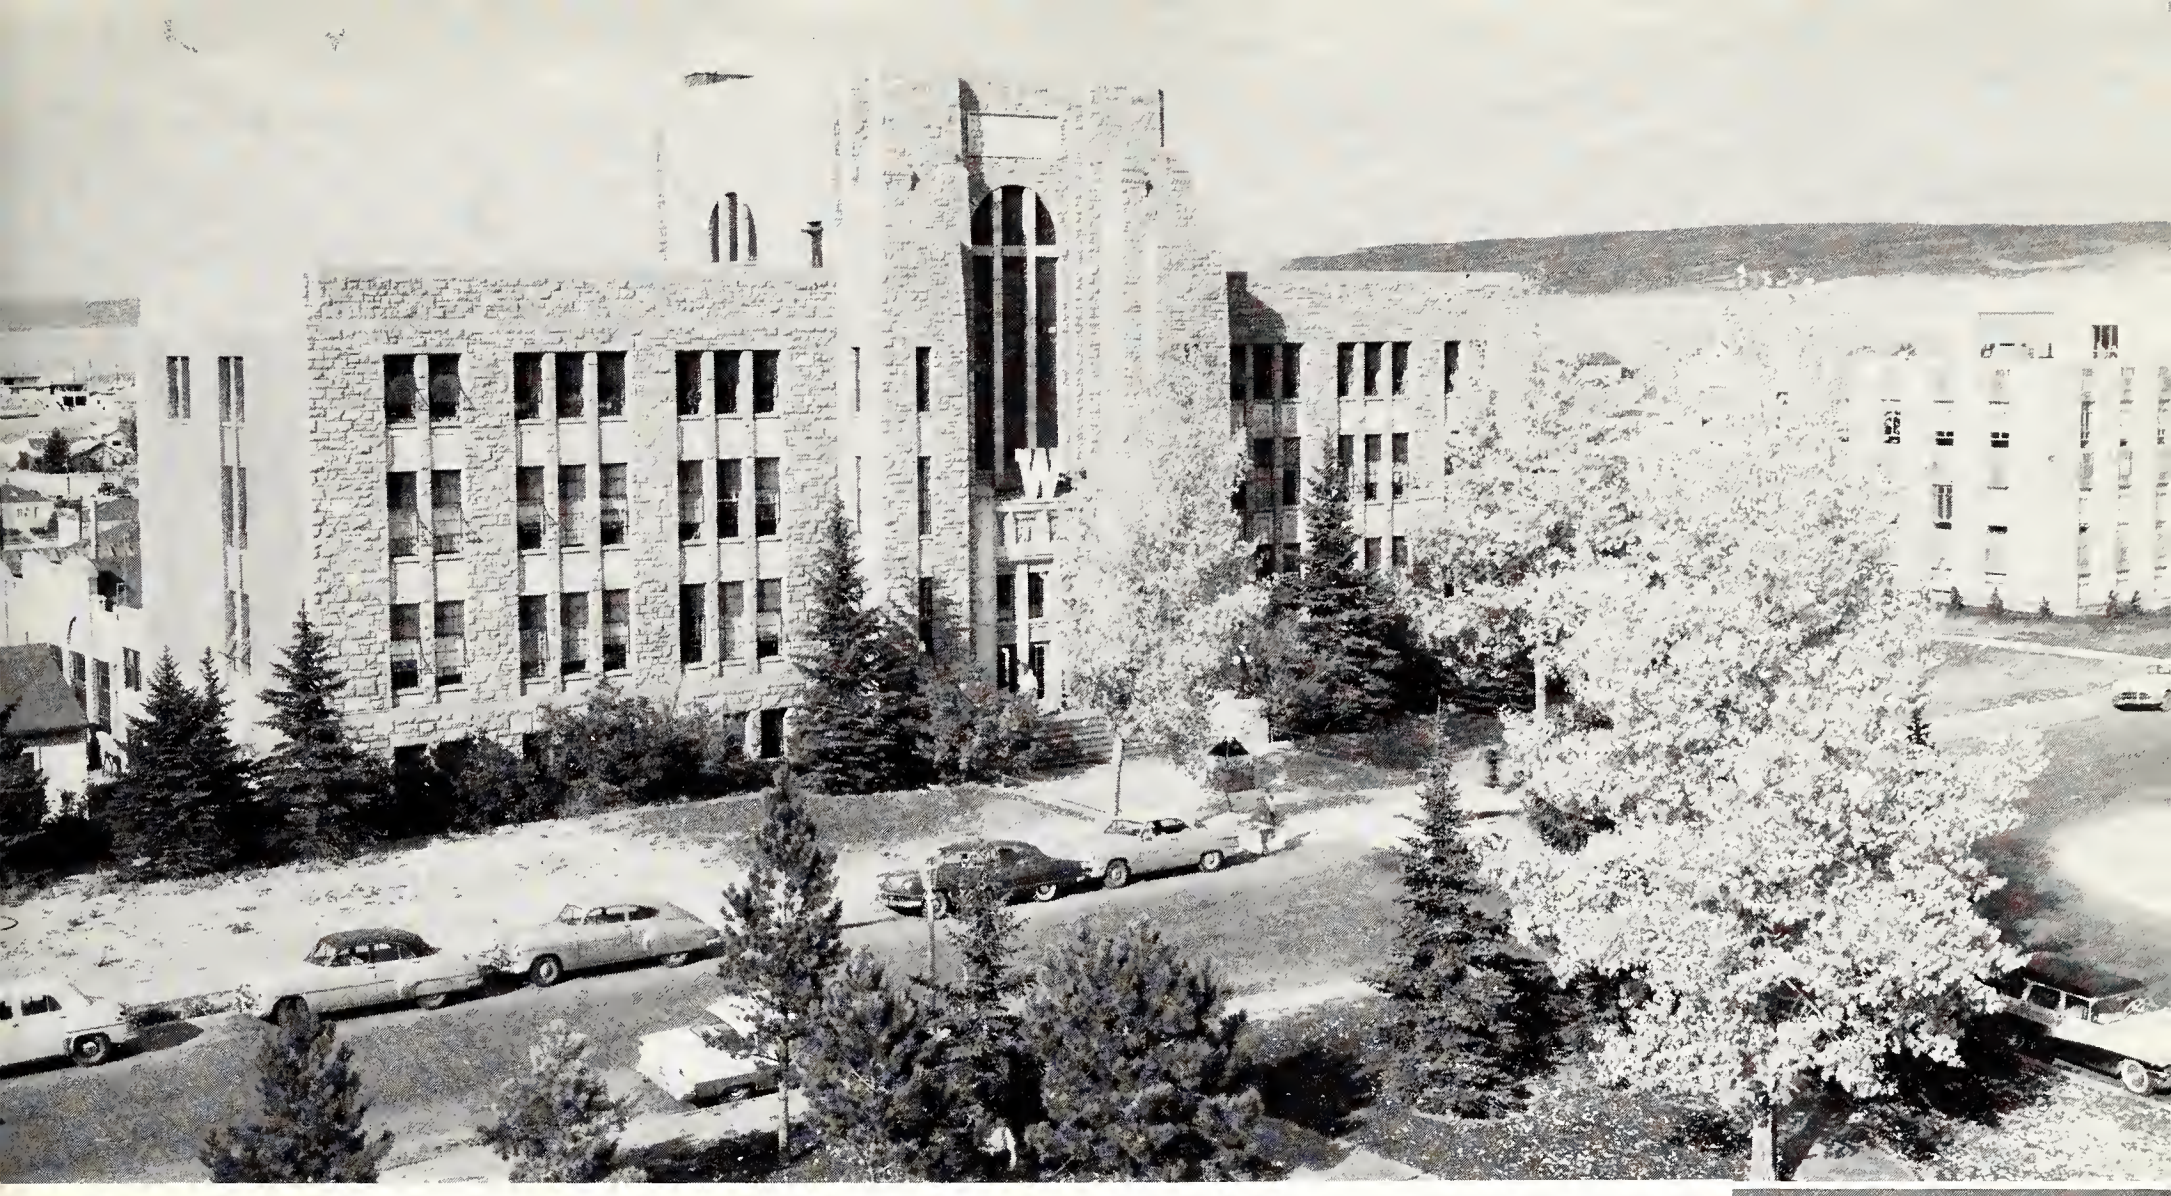

Harlan Bryant
Dean

The College of Education, a professional school, has for its purposes the preparation of qualified teachers and administrators for, and provides leadership in the improvement of, the public schools of Wyoming.

Divisions of the school are: Undergraduate Teacher Education, Graduate Study and Educational Services.

The college includes seven areas of study: elementary, secondary, vocational, physical education, guidance, educational administration and adult and higher education.

college of engineering

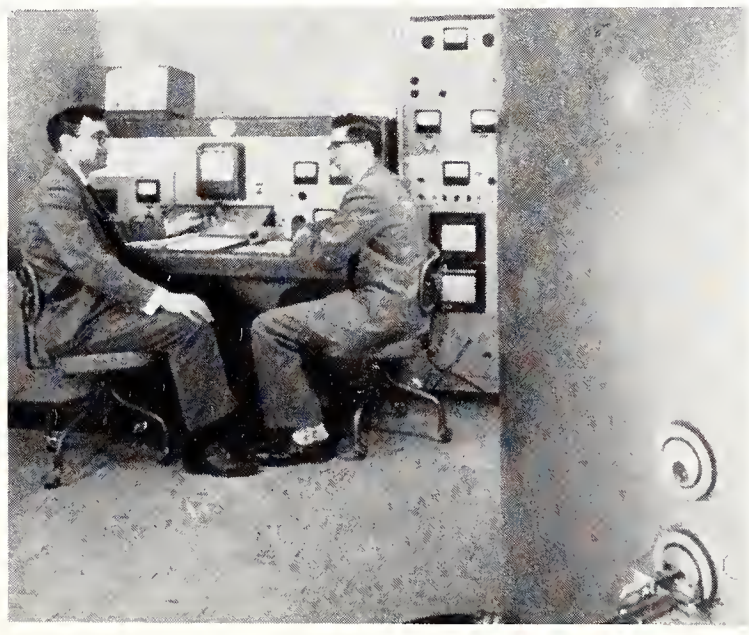

The program of the Engineering College is organized under the following four departments: Civil and Architectural, General, Electrical and Mechanical.

The work in all four-year curricula stresses the mastery of the subjects fundamental to all fields of engineering during the first year. The balance of the program is divided between the fundamentals and courses applying to the particular field selected.

Dean of Law

college of law. . . .

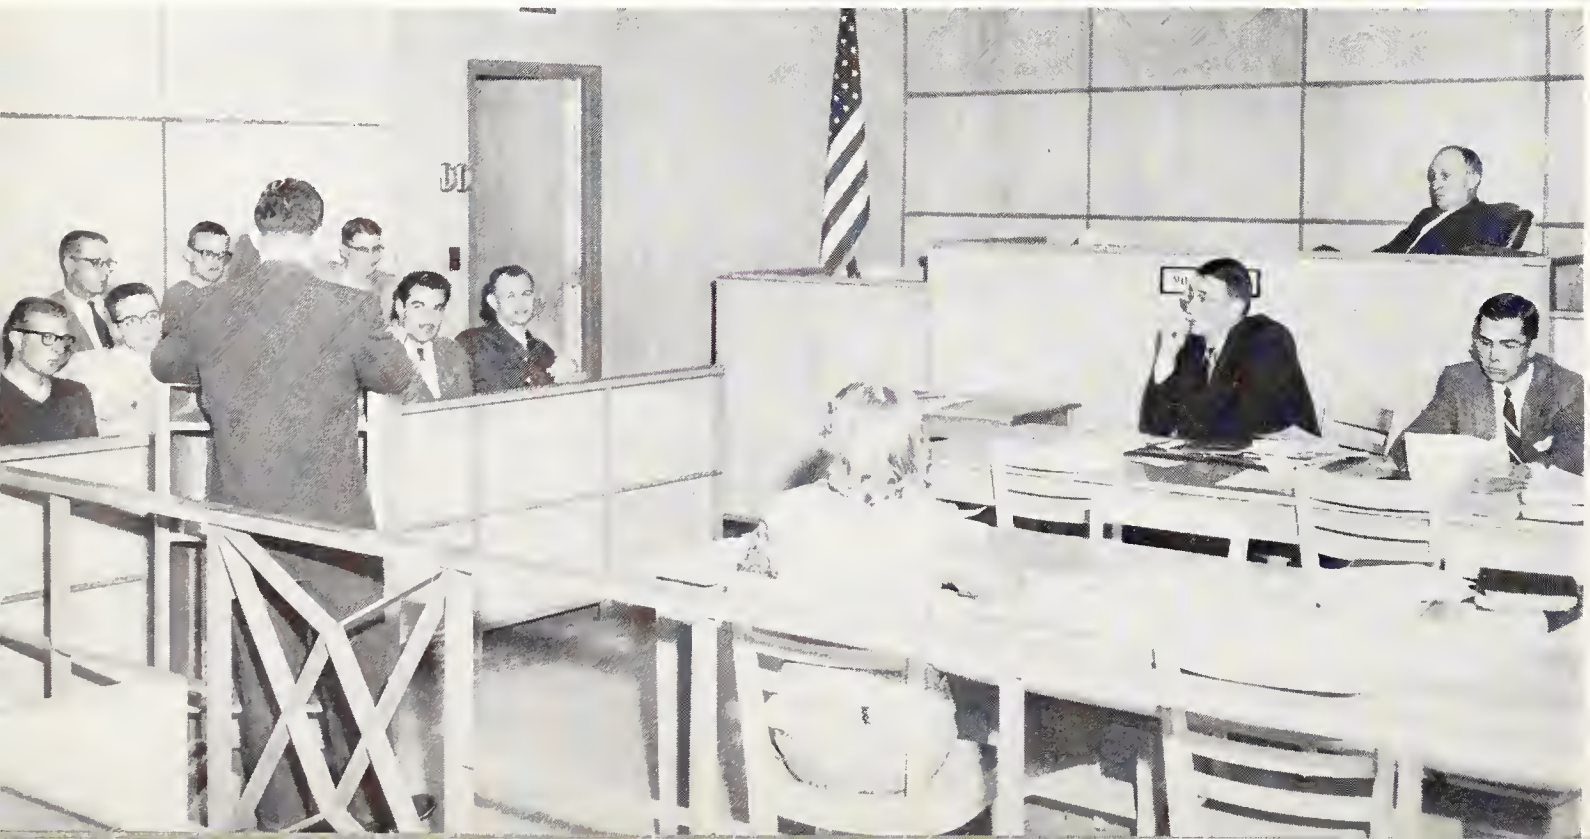

This college, founded in 1920, is the only law school in Wyoming. Graduates are prepared to practice in any state following the Anglo-American system of law.

The case method is used for the major part of the instruction. Students have for their use a 25,000 volume library in addition to the regular UW library.

Below: Students gain practice in trial through moot trials held every spring.

Right: Potter Law Club members attended a legislative session in Cheyenne.

college of nursing

The pre-service professional nursing program was established in 1951.

Emphasis is placed not only upon nursing skills and the nature and extent of knowledge, but also on the ability to apply principles, and upon the ends to which knowledge is used.

The courses in the program are offered to both men and women in the usual semesters of the University academic calendar.

No nursing courses are offered in the summer session.

Amelia Leino is the dean of the college.

The proposed new student health and nursing building will be located on the ground in the foreground of the picture.

graduate school

The University offers opportunities for graduate study in the fields of Agriculture, Arts and Sciences, Commerce, Education and Engineering. Robert Bruce is the Dean of the Graduate School.

arnold air had honormen

Selected for their high degree of military aptitude and academic achievement, the members of Arnold Air Society are advanced Air Force ROTC cadets. The society sponsors the well known "girls in blue," or the Angel Flight. Highlighting the year is the annual initiation banquet, where the developers of air power are honored.

President this year was Bill Cheney.

Right: Senator-elect, Gale McGee, at the initiation.

President Humphrey presented Larry Wendell a Chicago Tribune Award.

Eight cadets were presented the Chicago Tribune award for scholastic and leadership achievements.

Angel Flight is a group of girls from all years in school, chosen by the AFROTC Selection Board at the beginning of the year. They are the honorary sponsors of the AFROTC and do exhibition drilling at the Homecoming football game and during basketball games and high school tournaments. The AFROTC queen for the Military Ball is selected from the Angels. Gay Watkins is the archangel.

To the civilian reader the qualifications for Scabbard and Blade are not generally known. One of the first requirements is that the man must be an "officer and a gentleman." He must possess the qualities of leadership, patriotism, efficiency and honor.

Members are chosen from the advanced ROTC, and their activities are not restricted to the advancement of military education. Other activities include choosing the Army Corpettes, sponsoring the Army ROTC, and holding the annual Military Ball.

Head of the organization was Cadet Captain Dick Barrett.

The Society of American Military Engineers is a combination military-professional organization which serves to stimulate interest in the field of Military Engineering and the ROTC program.

Monthly meetings featured guest speakers on subjects as Atlas missile base construction, reclamation and power development, air defense, and role of the U.S. Army. Each year the group takes a field trip to one of the Army Corps of Engineers civil works projects.

Bob Rhynsburger was president this year.

At the beginning of the school year, each sorority and women's independent organization nominates five girls to attend the Scabbard and Blade teas. From these nominees the Scabbard and Blade and previous Corpettes select new members of the Corpettes. There are 13 active members and two alternates. These girls represent the Army ROTC. Mary Kay Kingham, Lieutenant Colonel, was head of the group this year.

Many groups entered floats in the homecoming parade. Right: The Independent Students featured a feast on the New Mexico Lobo.

"who's who in colleges" . . .

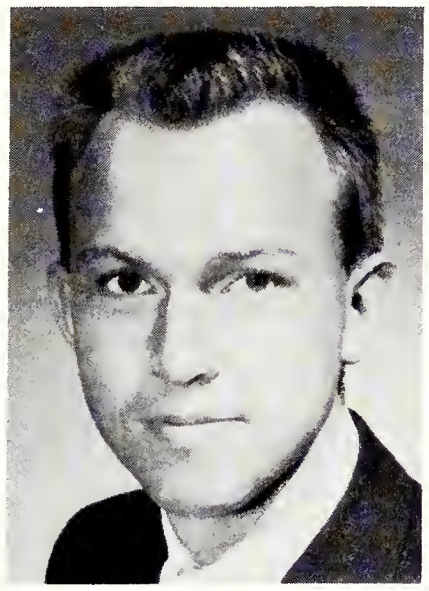

Twenty-four men and eleven coeds were named to the 1958-59 edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" by the campus Who's Who committee.

The select few were chosen from a cross-section of campus leaders who received endorsement from five voting sources. The UW Senate, Dean of Men, Dean of Women, Registrar's office, and former members on campus all voted on the selections.

Iron Skull President

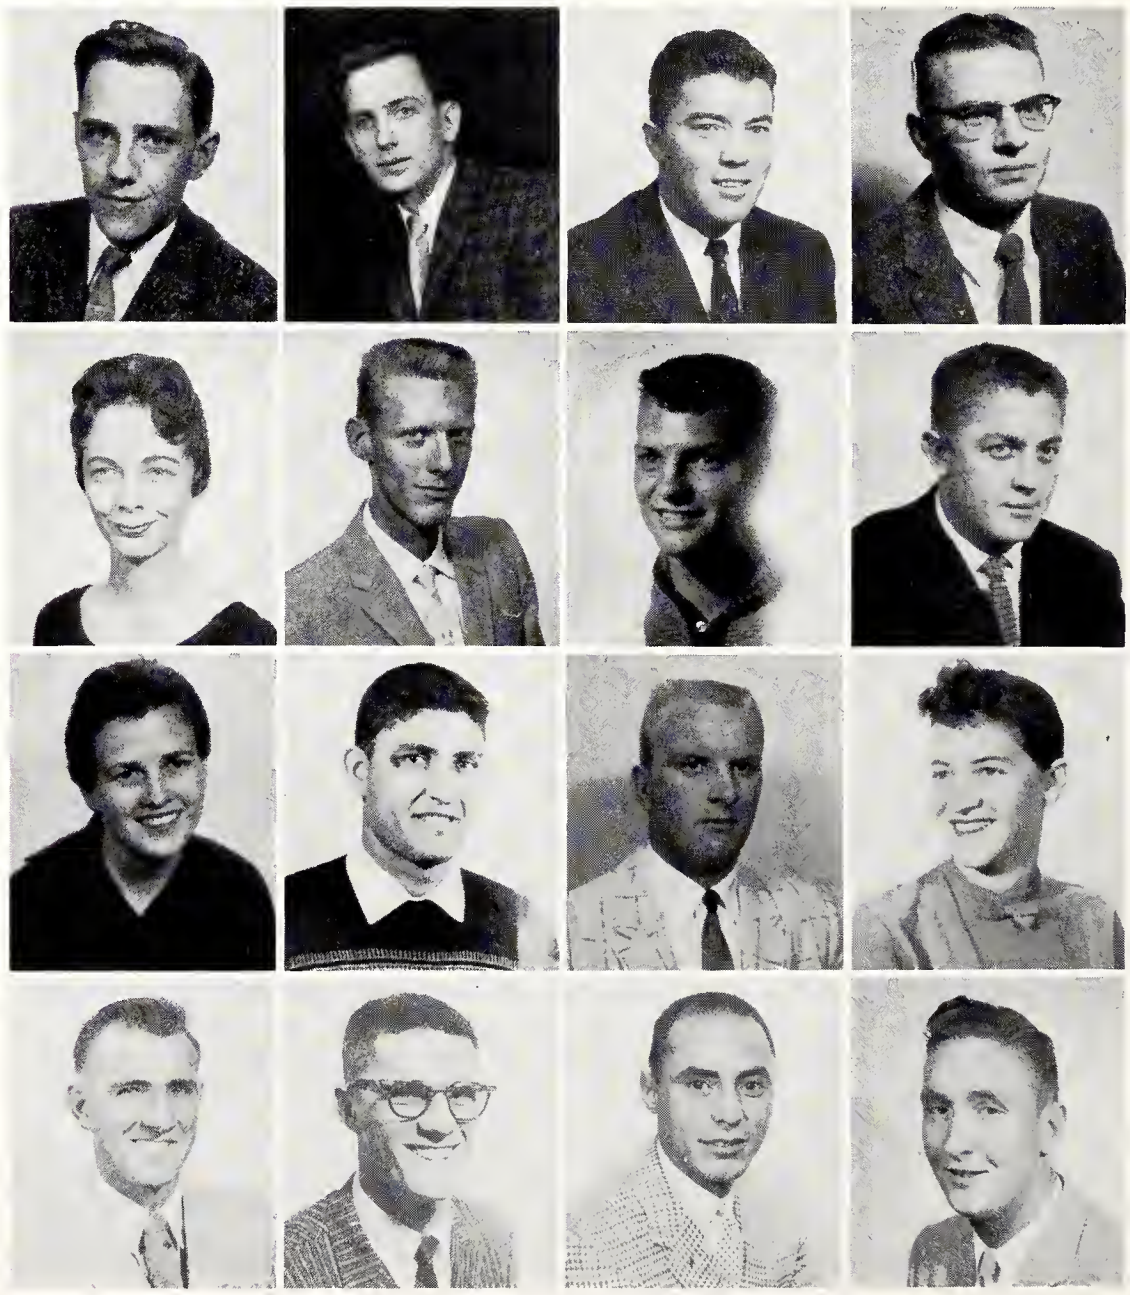

IRON SKULL is a junior honorary. There are two members from each campus fraternal organization, one man and one woman from LDS, and eight independent students, four men and four women. Grade averages above 2.5 and active campus participation are factors in consideration for membership. This year Iron Skull's president was James Watt. The Iron Skull sponsors the Homecoming Sing and the Iron Skull Skid at Homecoming each year.

CHIMES is a junior women's honorary. Membership is selected on grade averages above 2.25 and the activity list sent to eligible girls which is returned at the Mortarboard tea. Chimes help in orientating freshman students to university life and present six orientation programs during the year to freshman women students. Chimes give the AWS test to new women students on campus, help at the freshman steak fry and at the freshman women's tea.

SPURS is a sophomore women's honorary. To be eligible for membership in this organization a girl must have earned a 2.25 grade average and have participated in many campus organizations. These girls wear white skirts and sweaters with the brown and gold emblem on their sweaters. These sophomore women sponsor the Pepsters, conduct open house tours, and usher at games, concerts and assemblies. They also conduct a singing valentine program on Valentine's Day. The main object of this organization is to spur the Wyoming Cowboys on to victory by mass cheering at the Cowboy athletic events.

PHI EPSILON PHI is the men's honorary for outstanding sophomore men on the University of Wyoming campus. Besides promoting school spirit this group gives recognition to male underclassmen. In order to be eligible to be a member of Phi Epsilon Phi a freshman boy must attain a 2.5 average or better during the first semester of his freshman year and show qualities in leadership and school spirit. The Phi Eps help promote school spirit and scholarship. The Phi Eps have an annual spring picnic with the Spurs and sponsor the all school sweater dance at which the Sweater Queen is chosen.

The last sob-story of the book. The staff for this year's book had fun. Our only trouble came from class pictures and was of a nature the average reader can't understand, therefore it won't be mentioned. All that is necessary to say is that the staff—all of them ended up spending nights trying to figure out who was who and who went where and why it was so important anyway.

Most of the members of the staff were the kind every editor dreams of finding. That is, most of the time. Exceptions were: Sylvia Seltzer and Barbara Nelson who kept trying to ski, with the results that on one crucial week, Sylvia was in the hospital for an operation. Not bad, except the week before Barbara had sprained both legs and was on crutches.

And then there was Russ Lewis. He got the flu and became so entranced with the infirmary nurses that we couldn't find him for a week. Peggy Blackwell spent her time trying to find out secrets that were none of her business and the remainder of the time cussing finance committee members. Mary Lou Jensen had a husband to take care of, Sandi Dickensheets, a beau friend, and Diane Markley, one hundred and one million activities.

Melinda Young, Mary Smith and Mary Ann Haak served out their apprenticeships without pay but with lots of experience in silly little time-consuming boring jobs. All very necessary and important in the end.

Kay Osborne tried without success to find some sense in this world, and gave up after her ninth bout with the class section. Not on the staff but deserving mention is Howard Donley who served as mother, general housekeeper, and chief bottle washer too many nights. Thanks also goes to Wayne Hadley, Bob Shaffer and Don Merback of Myers Yearbook Co., for their patience with a deadline-missing, absent-minded, full-of-foolishness staff.
